Fifth Sunday in Ordinary Time

In the first reading from the prophet Isaiah we get a glimpse of a model for Christian stewards to follow. Within the temple, God's voice shakes the foundations and causes the natural world to shake and tremble. The Lord asks: "Whom shall I send? Who will go for us?" Isaiah replies to the call of God for service with immediacy and enthusiasm: "Here I am, send me!" There is no hesitation. There are no excuses, contingencies, or "what-ifs." Good stewards know that responding to the Lord's call to serve is never easy, never simple to grasp, never designed for ready comfort and success. But the call needs a response. What about us? What does it take to shake us into an enthusiastic response? To say to God: "Here I am, Lord. Send me!"

We are children of a God who enters our lives as a friend, not a master. He does not call us slaves, but friends.
We learn from Him and people like Ruth and Naomi on how to commit our lives to one another. We value our relationships not just because we selfishly seek our own benefits and rewards. We value relationships because together we are stronger than alone. Each of us brings a fidelity that empowers both in the relationship. Simon helped Jesus carry the cross, but Jesus also helped Simon by stretching his heart, thus making a stronger child of the Father.
There is to be a mutuality in our relationships when we chose fidelity over escape. Wherever you go I shall go. That is the song we sing to one another.
