Twenty Fifth Sunday in Ordinary Time
 In today's Gospel, we learn that the disciples of Jesus had been discussing among themselves who was the greatest. Jesus is about to turn their idea as well as our society's idea of "greatness" upside down. He embraces a child and tries to help the Twelve understand that to be great is to be focused on something other than themselves. Jesus teaches that true "greatness" lies in being a good steward of those who are not great: welcoming one who is not viewed as great by our society's standards, like the child, the innocent, the vulnerable, the suffering, those who are outside our comfortable circle of family, friends, companions and colleagues, those who need a welcome. Jesus redefines our notion of greatness. How do we define greatness? Is our notion of greatness consistent with the teachings of Jesus Christ?

What are you hiding? What do you do in secret? Doing things in secret, hiding, these things are the beginning of lying.
Mother Teresa

Amid the fray of conflicting issues, where victory consists of in eliminating one's opponents, how is it possible to raise our sights to recognize our neighbors or to help those who have fallen along the way? A plan that would set great goals for the development of the entire human family nowadays sounds like madness. We are growing ever distant from one another, while the slow and demanding march towards an increasingly united and just world is suffering a new and dramatic setback.
